

Social and Personal

THE third dance given by the Richmond German Club will take place this evening in the ballroom of the Masonic Temple. The attractions will be unusually attractive, and Colonel J. Lane Stern will lead. In honor of Miss Harrison.

Mrs. R. H. Lindsey has sent out invitations for a theatre party in honor of her niece, Miss Elsie Harrison, on Friday evening, January 13, to witness the first performance of Richard Carle in "Jumping Justice" at the Academy of Music. Miss Harrison is one of the most attractive young girls presented to Richmond society this winter, and much handsome entertainment has been incident to her "bringing out."

Tea for Miss Robins.
Mrs. Horace Wellford Jones, of 209 East Franklin Street, was hostess of a very pretty tea Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Polly Robins, who has been spending several weeks here with her mother, Mrs. Sally Nelson Robins. Mrs. Wellford received in a gown of black crepe meteor, with diamond ornaments and wore a corsage bouquet of English violets. Miss Robins wore black satin, trimmed in chiffon and jet, and Mrs. J. J. Montague, who also received with Mrs. Jones, wore a frock of blue crepe de chine with a bouquet of blue of the valley.

Mrs. Sally Nelson Robins and Mrs. Leake presided at the tea table, which was ornamented with a bowl of red flowers. Red carnations in a silver vase also decorated the table in the dining room, where Mrs. John Farland served egg nog. Misses Jennie Warwick, Hoke, Delafors, Mrs. Virginia Randolph Shackelford, of Orange, and Miss Katie Hoke also assisted in doing the honors of the occasion.

Of Interest Here.
Among the numerous ante-nuptial affairs given for Miss Mary Bayler, whose marriage to William H. White, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, of this city, will take place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, January 11, in the First Presbyterian Church, Norfolk, was a luncheon Saturday at the Country Club of that city. Miss Mary Bayler was hostess of the affair, and covers were laid for eight guests. Decorations were in white and gold.

Those present were: Miss Bayler, Mrs. William S. Bayler, Mr. Richard D. Cooke, Miss Cecelia Woods, of Savannah, Ga.; Miss Margaret Bayler, of Raleigh, N. C.; Miss Emma

Gray White, of Richmond, and Miss Alice Kelly.

At Hunt Hall.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, Mrs. Allen Potts and Misses Sarah and Roberta Hamilton were among the guests at the hunt hall given at the Chevy Chase Club Friday evening.

The Washington Post of Saturday contains the following account of the affair:

"One of the most brilliant and picturesque balls of the winter was the hunt hall given last night at the Chevy Chase Club, with a cotillion in which about 110 couples danced, many of the men wearing pink coats. The clubhouse was decorated in green and red, and the Marine Band, under the direction of Sackelmann, played for the dancing and during the first supper, served at midnight. A series of old English hunting songs, including 'Drink, Puppy, Drink,' 'Dye Ken, John Peel,' and 'A Southerly Wind and a Cloudy Sky,' was given."

Mrs. Moore, of Clarence Moore, master of hounds, received for the ball committee with Gist Blair, president of the club. Mrs. Moore wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with the black and white lace. The cotillion was led by William C. Manrow, assisted by George Howard and Frederick Hildekoper. The favors were red carnations and horseshoes of flowers, red Russia leather card cases, with the name of the club and date of the ball on the front, and a set of old English prints of hunting scenes in the bottom; crystal paper weights, with similar hunting scenes, and calendars containing a day hunting picture."

Returns to New York.
Dr. Max Eastman, of New York, who left the city Saturday night, gave a talk in the auditorium of the Medical College of Virginia at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning to the students of that college and other Richmond institutions.

Dr. Eastman was introduced to his audience by Dr. Christopher Tompkins, the dean of the college, and was heard with great interest and attention. After the lecture was concluded he met a great many of the students who came forward to greet the lecturer personally. Through the courtesy of Mrs. John Dunn, Dr. Eastman was here given an opportunity to see the fine portrait of the poet Shelley, painted by William West, which now hangs in the Dunn home, 314 East Franklin Street.

Engagement Announced.
Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Christian, formerly of Richmond, but now of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida Morris, to Roy Chase Sprout, of Chesapeake, Pa. The wedding will be celebrated very quietly here in March. Miss Christian is a niece of Judge George L. Christian, of this city, and prominently related throughout the State.

Concerting at the Swanston.
Mrs. Claude A. Swanston attended the ball given last Monday night by the former American consul to London and Mrs. Robert J. Wynne, to present their daughter, Miss Ruth Wynne, to Washington society. Mrs. Swanston was dressed in yellow satin with an overskirt of lace and wore a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Dance at the Jefferson.
By far the prettiest of the annual German given by the German Club of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute was the dance at the Jefferson Hotel last Tuesday night. Over five hundred pennants, representing practically every college in the East, were strung around and across the ballroom, and the club's large Omicron Gamma banner was suspended above the palms flanking around the stage. H. M. McGowan King led dancing with Miss Nellie Price Morton, and was assisted by James Hamilton Satterwhite, president of the club. Favors for the girls were American Beauty roses, and for the men, small club pennants on canes.

Among those dancing were: Cadet J. L. Satterwhite, with Miss Mamie Hamilton; Cadet Davey Morton, with Miss Sarah Starker; Cadet W. T. Dabney, Jr., with Miss Evans; Cadet George Berkeley, with Miss Margaret May, of Blacksburg; Cadet John Winston, with Miss Clarke, of Alabama; Cadet W. M. Dodson, with Miss Janie Gaines; Cadet W. H. Jackson, with Miss Margaret DeLamette; Cadet J. W. C. Catlett, with Miss Lottie Burfin, of Hanover; Cadet C. Weisker, with Miss Ellen Radford, of Forest, Va.; Cadet W. D. Moss, with Miss Elizabeth; Cadet John Lawford, with Miss Emily Wade; Cadet Buford Rose, with Miss Kathleen Gregory; Cadet Atwell, with Miss Emily Fitzgerald; Cadet Montgomery Blair, with Miss Blain; Cadet L. H. Enslow, with Miss Mildred Lewis; Cadet J. W. Fawcett, with Miss Robinson; Cadet Cyrus Hankins, with Miss Alice; Cadet F. Q. Windfield, with Miss Horner; Cadet Burke, with Miss Fannie Brown; Cadet Paul, with Miss Beattie; Cadet F. R. Benson, with Miss Florence Nix; Cadet Harris, with Miss Nan Noble; Cadet F. H. Legge, with Miss Fitzgerald; Cadet John Watkins, with Miss Maria Dabney; Cadet R. M. Cox, with Miss Moon; Cadet C. Paul, with Miss Bryan; Cadet Eskridge, with Miss Nan Pierce; Cadet Syfion, with Miss Rowe; Cadet C. T. Henley, with Miss Henley; Cadet Cooper, with Miss Hopkins; Cadet Peasley, with Miss Juliet Anderson; Cadet T. T. Peake, with Miss Shields; Cadet Hargrove, with Miss Hargrove; Cadet M. Crocker, with Miss Mills; Cadet E. A. Ishell, with Miss Thaw.

The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Ambler Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rowe, Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. Ellen Morton, Mrs. James King, Mrs. Joseph of Norfolk; Miss Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Dabney, Mr. and Mrs. Weisker, Mrs. Tullien Ruffin, of Hanover. The stages included J. H. Bell, D. D. Martin, Henry Tyler.

At the Woman's Club.
Owing to illness, Dr. Metcalf will not be able to deliver his lecture before the Woman's Club, this afternoon as has been announced, and there will be a social meeting from 4 to 8 o'clock instead.

The meeting of the Literary Class on Wednesday afternoon will be omitted. The second series of the club dancing classes will commence January 11. All members of the club desiring to Join these classes are asked to register their names as soon as possible.

Meetings To-Day.

The board of managers of the Sheltering Arms Free Hospital will hold their annual meeting to-day at 12 noon at the hospital. Annual reports will be read and election of officers held. A full attendance is desired.

The Helping Circle of the King's Daughters will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of Miss Virgie Gary, 226 North Twenty-second Street. St. John's Circle of the King's Daughters will also meet this afternoon. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Robert Currie, 2500 East Grace Street, at 1:30 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

Important Meeting.

According to constitutional requirements the meeting of the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, for the hearing of annual reports and the payment of dues, will be held Wednesday, January 11, in Lee Camp Hall at 11 o'clock. The meeting will be of unusual importance in view of the fact that arrangements for the D. U. C. convention, to meet in Richmond next November, will be begun, as they must be entirely perfected before the meeting in June of this year, when the chapter adjourns for the summer. All members are urged to be present at this meeting.

In and Out of Town.
Miss Katherine Cox Bryan, of Louisville, Ky., is the guest of Mrs. Cunningham, at the Chesterfield.

Mrs. Robert Bland and Mrs. James Ridge, of Petersburg, are visiting Mrs. Alfred Witherspoon in this city.

Mrs. Bertha P. Blanton continues quite ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. W. S. Bailey, in Newport News.

Miss Iris Sheard has returned to Richmond, after a month's stay in Columbus, O.

Miss Marie Baldwin, of Baltimore, is in Richmond to attend the Brown-Dodson wedding to-morrow evening.

Dr. Herbert Lewis has returned to the city after a visit to relatives near Culpeper, Va.

Misses Susie Robinson and Estelle Harding, of Petersburg, are visiting friends in this city.

Peyton Rowe, of Richmond, is the guest of relatives in Fredericksburg, Va.

Misses Elizabeth Stratton and Sallie Morris have returned to Gordonsville after spending a few days in Richmond.

Captain and Mrs. T. D. Ranson and son, who have been the guests of friends here, have returned to Staunton.

Mrs. Charles W. Goldsborough and her daughter, Miss Henrietta Goldsborough, of Newburg, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn McVeigh, in this city.

The Misses Coleman have been recent guests of Miss Buckner, at her home in Ashland.

Mrs. Virginia R. Shackelford, of Orange, Va., is spending a few days with friends in Richmond.

Miss Polly Robins returned to New York last night, where she will be for the remainder of the winter.

Miss Vandergrift, of Gloucester, will be the guest of Mrs. John Farland here for several weeks.

Heavy Loss by Fire.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Wilson N. C., January 8.—The large plant of the Bryant Lumber Company here was almost destroyed by fire last night. When discovered the flames had made such headway that the main building was doomed, but two dry kilns and much lumber were saved. The loss will amount to about $15,000, partly insured. The company will rebuild at once.

Y. M. C. A. Is Robbed.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Suffolk, Va., January 8.—The home of the Suffolk Young Men's Christian Association was robbed last night, the thief carrying off $8.10, secured from the office desk, which was forced open. The robber apparently sought only cash. In the apartment of Lester Bradstreet, in roomer's watches were taken from his trunk, but were left unharmed on the dresser. Entrance was through the cellar. Neither Rev. E. F. Black, the pastor, nor his assistant was in. No arrest has been made, but the police have suspicions.

The grand jury of Nansemond Circuit Court, which convened Monday, will be especially charged by Judge McLemore as to thrusting the probe into violations. Commonwealth's Attorney Burgess has drawn some indictments in blank, and true bills are expected.

THOUGHT SHE'D NEVER GET UP

But Lady in Chriesman, Who Went to Bed With This Idea, Has Changed Her Mind

Chriesman, Tex.—In a letter from this place, Lillie Gibson says: "About three years ago I was just entering womanhood and was sick in bed for nearly nine months. I took medicines from four doctors, but it didn't help me. Sometimes I would ache all over, and I would have such a headache I was in a bad fix, and that is all there is to it. I thought I would try Cardui. Now I am cured of all my troubles, and I shall praise Cardui as long as I live. My sister said I never would get well, but now I am perfectly well, and I am thankful for what the medicine did for me."

Cardui is made from strictly vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, stimulating them to do their proper work, relieving pain and restoring health.

Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? Cardui has a record of more than fifty years in relieving just such troubles.

Will you try it?

YOUTH WILL HAVE AN EARLY TRIAL

Case of John Anderson Will Be Heard in Court at Charlottesville.

FRUIT GROWERS BUSY

They are Preparing for Fifteenth Annual Convention in Roanoke.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Winchester, Va., January 8.—John Anderson, an orphan, will not have to spend the balance of the winter, spring and early summer in the Winchester jail for selling a brass handle and door plate he removed from one of the doors of the new post-office in this city. Rev. W. D. Smith, rector of the Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, interested himself in the boy's behalf, with the result that Judge Henry Clay McDowell, of Lynchburg, who presides over the United States Court for the Western District of Virginia, directed that Anderson be taken to Charlottesville for trial at a term of the court to be convened there to-morrow morning, and Anderson has been taken to Charlottesville by Deputy Marshal John D. Rogers, of Staunton. The boy's case has attracted considerable interest and sympathy, and it is expected that the court will commit him to a reform school. It was the intention of District Attorney Barnes Gillette not to take up Anderson's case until next June, at Harrisonburg.

A large number of Winchester and Frederick county fruit growers have left for Roanoke to attend the fifteenth annual convention of the Virginia Horticultural Society, which will be held here this week. The local fruit growers have shipped over 100 boxes and about thirty barrels of choice apples to be entered in the competition for prizes at the fruit show to be held in connection with the convention, and a large sign, six by ten feet, made of Newtown pines, and the back of which is covered with the names of the growers, was also taken to Roanoke. The apples in the sign make up the words, "Virginia Apples."

Joseph Thornberry and Lewis Pearson sustained serious injuries a day or two ago, when a scaffold on which they were working in the new boiler-room of the Glazie planing mill fell suddenly. Both men were buried under the debris, and had to be dug out. They were removed to their homes, and are under the care of physicians. Both, however, will recover.

The series of week of prayer services closed to-night in Market Street Methodist Episcopal Church with a large attendance. Each of the local ministers of Protestant churches participated. The sermon on "The Brotherhood of Man" was preached by Rev. J. W. Duffey, pastor of Broadrock Street Methodist Episcopal Church. South. An offering was received for the American Bible Society. The report showed that since the Laymen's Missionary Movement was organized here, less than a year ago, the churches have made unusually large contributions to foreign missions.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Darr, wife of Charles Monroe Darr and daughter of the late John Ritter, of Winchester, died on Friday evening at her home in Martinsburg, Va., from a complication of diseases, aged thirty-six years. She leaves her husband, mother, four children, three brothers and one sister. Her remains will be interred in this city on Monday.

At the marriage of Miss Ethel May Foley, daughter of James Foley, a well-known farmer of Clarke county, to Luther Broadus, of Chattanooga, Tenn., which took place at the home of the bride's father, near Berryville, several days ago, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Duffey, pastor of the Baptist Church, after a Northampton trip, the young couple will live in Chattanooga.

Work is being pushed rapidly on the new Berryville hotel building, which is being erected in the heart of the seat of Clarke county. The building is now under roof, and it is planned to have the formal opening on the night of Washington's birthday—February 22.

Friction which has been dormant for the past year between the members of the Common Council and the Board of Trustees of the Handley Fund came to the fore again the other day, when, after a long session, the board decided to submit a report to the Council, but, as explained by the president, Mr. Holmes Conrad, merely to comply with the act of the General Assembly requiring the board to make an annual report to the Council. Members of the Council were startled by some of the items in the financial report, which showed, among other things, that John Wagoner not only acted as the representative of Architect Stewart Barney in the erection of the Handley Memorial library, but that he was a clerk and also employed as supervisor some of the building work, for which he received over $1,200. The Council appointed a special committee to take charge of all the books of the trustees and make a thorough investigation of the matter, with a view of getting at the bottom of the whole matter. The Handley Library, one of the handsomest buildings of the kind in the South, was built by the Mankin Construction Company, of Richmond, and although completed and in charge of a janitor, it has not as yet been formally opened.

The body of Christopher W. Singhas, postmaster at Springfield, Hampshire county, Va., who was instantly killed by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad express train last week, was brought to Winchester for burial, since and interred in Mount Hebron Cemetery. He was crossing the main line track, after receiving a pouch of mail from the Romney train, and his view of the main track was obscured. A fast train struck him, and a blow on the head and killed him instantly. He was fifty-six years old and leaves a family. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Southern Methodist Church, and was born and reared in Clarke county.

Rev. A. C. Wicand, widely known in the Valley of Virginia as a teacher of Bible schools of the Church of the Epiphany, writes from Jerusalem to the effect that a party of missionaries headed by himself recently had a narrow escape from being killed by a crowd of Bedouins in the Holy Land, and that they owe their lives to a tribe of friendly Arabs, among whom they had been working as missionaries. The Bedouins held them up four times in one day, and the last crowd, finding them without much of value, decided to leave them to their fate. The Arabs overpowered and routed the intruders. Rev. Mr. Wicand and the members of his party, including his wife, Charles Ensemble, Miss Hattie Stadner and W. B. Miller and wife, finally succeeded in reaching Jerusalem without further molestation.

Joseph McLaughlin, night operator for the Cumberland Valley Railroad, at Carlisle, obtained a pass to come to Winchester on a visit to friends the other day, but it turns out that he and Miss Melinda Shriver, of Mount Holly Springs, went only as far as Hagerstown, where they were married by Rev. E. K. Thomas.

The local optimists have invaded Martinsburg, which has for years been regarded as one of the "wet" places in West Virginia, and have succeeded in inducing the City Council to raise the city retail license from $250 to $1,000 a year, the same as charged by the State. The people have no legal right to vote on the question of license or no license, but the Council will probably call an election to determine the sentiment. The power to grant or refuse license is vested with the Council of the County Court. Three mammoth petitions have been sent to the Council.

Friends here have received news of the death of Mrs. Ellen Withoughy Campbell, widow of Dr. John H. Campbell, of Cumberland, Md., which occurred last week at her home in Baltimore, at the age of seventy-seven years. Her remains were interred at the home of Dr. John Campbell, the mother of Dr. John Campbell, of Athens, Ga., whose wife was formerly Miss Mollie Hunter, daughter of Major Robert W. Hunter, of Winchester.

John Pannett, member of an old and well-known English family, died last week on his farm at Middleway, Jefferson county, from illness incident to advanced age. He was eighty years old and unmarried. His remains were brought to Winchester for burial in Mount Hebron Cemetery.

OPEN CONFERENCE FOR RECIPROCITY

Representatives of United States and Canada Meeting in Washington.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, January 8.—The negotiations for a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States were opened yesterday at the State Department by distinguished representatives of both governments.

The United States officials in interest are Secretary of State Philander C. Knox, assistant secretary, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Pappe and Mr. Osborn, of the State Department. The Canadian commissioners are the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and the Hon. William Paterson, Minister of Customs. After the conference the following statement was jointly issued as a warning to the press:

"It was decided that no statements would be given to the press until the nature of the negotiations should become definite. Thereupon an authoritative statement will be issued jointly by representatives of both governments and will be issued through the Department of State. Meanwhile, anything purporting to be information as to the progress of the negotiations will be merely speculation. Individual writers and the negotiators will not feel called upon to confirm or deny any such reports."

The Canadian commissioners were received and welcomed at the White House yesterday by the President, who expressed the hope that the negotiations would proceed speedily to an amicable adjustment.

The present proceedings are due largely to the personal interest which the President took in the subjects last summer when he arranged for a re-opening of negotiations. The President had lagged indefinitely. The President met Mr. Fielding in Albany last March, and it was to that conference that can be traced the present activity.

A great many members of the House and Senate are deeply interested in the conference at the State Department, and it is very probable that obstacles will be presented where local interests are concerned, but they are not in any way a serious factor in the opinion of the American officials.

The President will give a state dinner to the Canadian officials on Wednesday night. He invited Lord Grey and Premier Laurier to attend that dinner, but it was learned to-day that these officials would be obligated to attend the opening of the Canadian Parliament on that day, and have been out on business since the day Drummond left there.

Only five days ago Drummond was fined $500 in St. Louis for bigamy and paroled on his promise never to touch a woman, but he is now in a "hot" temper, to whom Drummond had been very attentive, has not been seen by friends in this city since the day Drummond left there.

When Drummond arrived in New York, he was accompanied by a young woman and a man who gave the name of Logan. As they left the train, Logan and the young woman walked in front, with Drummond, looking pale and fatigued, a step behind them. Drummond, when first accosted by a man who knew him, did not try to deny his identity, but later denied emphatically that he was Drummond.

When asked why he was in New York, he stammered, hesitated, and then, breaking away, jumped into a taxicab in which his two companions already were seated and was driven away. The instructions to the chauffeur were to drive to the Hotel Astor, but the party was not registered there.

Drummond has been married three times, each time as the result of an impromptu. His last marriage was less than a month ago, when he went through the ceremony in a St. Louis restaurant with Miss Helen Vance.

His first wife was Miss Marie Ring, with whom he eloped in 1898. He then, breaking away, jumped into a taxicab in which his two companions already were seated and was driven away. The instructions to the chauffeur were to drive to the Hotel Astor, but the party was not registered there.
